"Teachers are the one and only people who save nations"

– Mustafa Kemal Ataturk (founder of Modern Turkey)

Teachers have a pre-eminent role in moulding the citizens of tomorrow. The future greatness of a country depends on the quality of its teachers. The changing script of the 21st century requires the teacher to play multiple roles. The teacher is no more the sole provider of knowledge. Technology has invaded the classroom. This is the age of the smart classroom and smarter students. Collaborative learning is the new paradigm.

Today's teachers have to develop a new mindset and acquire a new set of professional skills in tune with the times. They must have a better understanding of the learner's perception, choice and capabilities. They must be able to unearth the inherent potential of their students and unleash their creativity. Above all, they should be perpetual learners. The challenge for the teacher today, is not to teach the right answers, but enable the students to ask the right questions.

OBJECTIVE : The program seeks to make the participants aware of the changes in contemporary educational domain and explore how to be equipped for it. It also discusses how teachers can excel in their work.

ATTENDEES : Teachers, educationists, policy planners, managers of educational institutions and anyone who is interested in improving the quality of education.

CONTENT : Topics for deliberation at the workshop are:

- Contemporary trends in Education
- Changing role of the teacher
- Effective class room management
- Multiple Intelligence
- Think Outside the Class room Box
- Excellence in Teaching

"Education is not the filling of a vessel, but the kindling of a flame." – Socrates
