EFFECTIVE PRESENTATIONS WITH AI
(Limited 20 Seats)

You probably spend between three and five hours building an important presentation. Most of that time goes into figuring out what to say, how to structure it, and making the slides look credible. The result is rarely worth the effort and you know it the moment you're presenting and the room isn't responding the way you hoped.

AI has changed this equation completely. The professionals using it well are building better presentations in under an hour. This one-day workshop shows you exactly how not in theory, but by doing it live, with your own real presentation, on the day.

What you will be able to do after this workshop:

- Build a complete, professional presentation in half the time you currently take
- Walk into any room knowing you've already anticipated your audience's toughest objections
- Use Microsoft Copilot, ChatGPT and Gamma to structure and design slides that actually look good
- Deliver with the kind of confidence that comes from being genuinely well-prepared
- Apply a step-by-step AI presentation workflow to every presentation you build from here on

CONTENTS

- Why most presentations fail and the one thing AI fixes immediately
- Audience intelligence using AI to map what your audience needs, fears and will push back on
- Structure and narrative prompting AI to build logical, persuasive presentation flows
- Design in practice live work with Copilot in PowerPoint, Gamma and Canva AI
- Delivery that lands body language, voice and the human elements AI cannot replace
- Handling questions using AI to prepare for objections before you walk into the room
- The complete build every participant builds and presents a real deck before the day ends

FOR WHOM

If you present to clients, leadership, investors or your own team more than once a month and you are still building presentations the old way this workshop is for you. No prior experience with AI tools is required.
